Index to Virginia Estates 1800–1865, Volumes 1 through 10. Wesley E. Pippenger, compiler.

Each volume contains a list of all estate records found in the listed city or county will books. The primary resource of information is the Library of Virginia’s microfilm; however, where will books are missing other estate records may be identified and used including, when feasible, both original and unrecorded wills, bonds of various types, appraisals, inventories, accounts, guardianships, guardianship accounts, estate divisions, plats, appointments of officials, and more. Each entry found for an estate is indexed separately noting the source. Wesley E. Pippenger, compiler of this series, inquired at each location whether original loose wills had survived in bulk and their whereabouts. Where possible, loose papers at a courthouse were examined for unrecorded wills. The location of original wills in public or private archives or manuscript collections is noted when known. If you are only interested in purchasing a volume or volumes that contain the counties and cities of interest to your research, consider purchasing volume 10 as well. In addition to the counties included in volume 10, this volume also contains an addendum of references to suits found in chancery causes and a few additions and corrections to other volumes. For an alphabetical list of locations by volume, please see page 9 of this catalog.

This ten-volume series contains 402,522 index entries in 7,081 printed pages, including 322 pages of prefatory materials. A comparison of selected entries by location and volume is available on the VGS website https://www.vgs.org/wp-content/uploads/2023/04/VAEstates\_Comparison.pdf.

Note: This series was originally published with a maroon-colored cloth cover (hardback). Reprinted volumes are published with a white, paper cover unless otherwise noted.

Here's what reviewers have to say about this series:

"Normally, a book review ends with a "buy" or "don't" recommendation. The series of which this is the first volume, however, will be such a boon to Virginia researchers that this review begins with the following recommendation: "buy it immediately"; and enter a standing order with the Society for automatic purchase of subsequent volumes as they are published." – Helen F.M. Leary, CG, CGL, FASG

"Virginia researchers will find this work to be an extremely helpful reference that enables them to locate records quickly and efficiently. When the series of Index to Virginia Estates is complete, Pippenger and the Virginia Genealogical Society will have compiled a valuable finding aid for Virginia families in the first two-thirds of the nineteenth century. In addition, with its many references to previously unindexed records, the series will enable researchers to locate records easily that previously would have required extensive research. Serious Virginia genealogists and historians should have this work at hand and all Virginia researchers will use it frequently." – Thomas W. Jones, Ph.D., CG, CGL

"Imagine having 41,000 records in one index and 4,602 of them references to wills in the southwest part of Virginia. And even more helpful are the more than 3,800 guardianship bonds, and 295 military records appearing in Pippenger's third volume of this projected ten-volume series. This is a book to buy without question, and not just for Virginians looking for their ancestors, but for those in Kentucky, Indiana, Tennessee, Missouri, Texas, and other such places where the only reference to the birthplace of their ancestors is "in Virginia." – Mary B. Kegley (from her review of volume 3)

Volume 1 covers the counties of Arlington (including the City of Alexandria), Fairfax, Fauquier, King George, Loudoun, Prince William, and Stafford. xx + 591 pp., cloth; (2001). ISBN: 1-888192-30-5 $40.00

Index to West Virginia Estates Before 1866, Volumes 1 and 2. Wesley E. Pippenger, compiler.

This two-volume series covers the entire state. Entries begin with the formation of the county, many of which predate 1800. However, because Mineral County was not formed until 1866, no entries for its records are included. Records are included for Preston County because the pertinent records for that location were destroyed by fire when the courthouse in Kingwood burned in 1869.

The primary source for entries is bound will books. When coverage by will books is insufficient, i.e. record loss or damage, additional types of records are used. For instance, in Berkeley County, because will books numbers 11, 16, 18, 19, and 20 were not found, the compiler examined loose wills and bonds for clues about estates. Each index entry identifies the name of the deceased (or the subject of the estate in the case of guardianships or dower), the county in which the original record is found, the year the record was recorded, and the source citation. Introductory pages provide details about the source records that are used, the corresponding Family History Library or Library of Virginia microfilm reel numbers for viewing a copy of the record, and a list of abbreviations.

In addition to the county will books, volumes of other estate record books such as administration and guardian bond books, fiduciary record books, guardian account books, inventories, sales bills, settlement books, and loose wills are indexed.

Users will find this series especially helpful in accessing the online copies of will books and other estate records now available through FamilySearch. While FamilySearch provides an index to the will books, the index does not include all entries for an estate settlement. The 1787 will of John Jackson of Berkeley County, for example, is in the FamilySearch index and the Pippenger index. However, Pippenger's index also includes the book and page number for the executor bond for John Jackson's estate and the location of Jackson's "loose" (original) will—both records are available on FamilySearch but not yet indexed. For an alphabetical list of locations by volume, please see page 10 of this catalog.

Volume 1 covers the counties of Barbour, Berkeley, Doddridge, Grant, Hampshire, Hardy, Harrison, Jefferson, Lewis, Marion, Mineral, Monongalia, Morgan, Pendleton, Pocahontas, Preston, Randolph, Taylor, Tucker, Tyler, Upshur, and Wetzel (2013), xl + 544 pp.; cloth; Smythe-sewn; map. ISBN: 978-1-888192-42-1 $50.00

Volume 2 covers the counties of Boone, Braxton, Brooke, Cabell, Calhoun, Clay, Fayette, Gilmer, Greenbrier, Hancock, Jackson, Kanawha, Lincoln, Logan, Marshall, Mason, McDowell, Mercer, Mingo, Monroe, Nicholas, Ohio, Pleasants, Putnam, Raleigh, Ritchie, Roane, Summers, Wayne, Webster, Wirt, Wood, and Wyoming (2013), (50) + 350 pp.; cloth; Smythe-sewn; map. ISBN: 978-1-888192-43-7 $50.00

The Effects of the French and Indian War on Civilian Life in the Frontier Counties of Virginia, 1754-1763.* Chester Raymond Young.

Focusing on a period when conflict drove many settlers out of the Valley of Virginia, the author's stated purpose was to describe the social effects the French and Indian War had upon civilian life in the Virginia frontier counties. It is a rich resource for those who had ancestors on Virginia's frontier during this period and helps to explain why some chose to abandon their homes there and flee back across the Blue Ridge or south in search of safety. The original dissertation was submitted by Mr. Young to Vanderbilt University in partial fulfillment of the requirement for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in History, in June 1969. With the permission of the author's widow, it was reformatted and indexed on behalf of the Virginia Genealogical Society by Wesley E. Pippenger. Maps and index added. xix + 251 pp., paper; (2018 reprint); ISBN 978-1-888192-19-3 $20.00

GENERAL VIRGINIA REFERENCE PUBLICATIONS

A Guide to 17th Century Virginia Court Handwriting.* Kent P. Bailey and Ransom B. True.

Handwritten documents can vary from easy to read to impossible. When the various letterforms of the 17th and 18th centuries (and even the early 19th century) are added to the mix many researchers just give up—even if it means not breaking down that brick wall. This handbook is a letterform-by-letterform guide to interpreting those impossible-to-read early colonial documents. While focusing on 17th-century Virginia court hand, many of these idiosyncratic letter forms were carried forward sometimes in a slightly altered format. The authors were self-taught—working together to parse out the words and collect information to be used in the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities' (APVA) Virginia Settlers Research Project. Enhanced by suggestions from a variety of researchers prior to its original publication in 1980, it provides multiple examples, not only of letterforms but also of common given names and document formats. Once out-of-print, the APVA granted the Virginia Genealogical Society permission to reprint the booklet, which is now in its second reprinting. 62 pp; paper; stapled. (1981) Reprint (2015) $10.00

Inheritance in Colonial Virginia, 2nd ed.* Barbara Vines Little.

The solving of an ancestral brick wall can frequently be accomplished by carefully analyzing the transfer of title to property in light of the law of inheritance in effect at the time. Not only did this law change over time, but a number of factors influenced the determination of the heir(s). – Barbara Vines Little, CG, FNGS, FUGA, FVGS

One of VGS's best-selling publications and written by a nationally recognized Virginia research expert, this publication covers the colonial and early post-colonial periods. Topics include primogeniture, degrees of consanguinity, the widow's dower, dower release, entailment, curtesy, intestate and testate inheritance. 30 pp; paper. 3d ed. (2014) $15.00

The Virginia Court System: A Genealogist's Guide to Early Courts (prior to 1851) and Where to Find the Records*, 3rd Ed. Marty Hiatt, Carolyn Hardin Goudie, and Barbara Vines Little.

One of VGS's most popular publications, it covers the evolution of the Virginia state court system from its beginning to the present. It includes two pages of published sources for additional reference as well as a handy chart showing the different court names and dates of existence. Burned county researchers can check to see if their county of interest's appeal court was held in a district where the records survive. Every Virginia researcher should have this publication on their bookshelf. 3d ed. (2014; reprint 2022); ISBN 978-1-888192-07-0. 15 pp; paper. $15.00

Virginia Land Office Inventory*, 3rd Ed. Daphne S. Gentry, compiler. Revised and enlarged by John S. Salmon.

The Land Office inventory, created by Archives staff, was "designed to facilitate access to the records and contains an administrative history of the Land Office, a list of registers, a list of agents of the Northern Neck, and a glossary of terms." Each series of records is described in a paragraph that notes the size, date range, type of record, and information typically found in the record. One hundred forty separate record series are described. The records beginning with the dispersal of land to the early settlers and continuing to this day are the most complete of Virginia's record groups. Its records provide information on original landowners in burned record counties, migration patterns, and even military service. (1981; reprint 2001). $20.00
